The depth of his knowledge in a wide range of subjects was phenomenal, as was his ability to make NLP's complex concepts understandable and enjoyable. He trained on a wide range of subjects from pure Sales skills to Presentation skills. He was also able to work with a wide range of people including senior manager and teachers with a varying understanding and depth of knowledge in NLP. Each course whether it was one day or 4 days was both challenging and stretching the exercises were both inventive and relevant and we all benefited from the professional and friendly environment he created. "Ralph gets results, and I can testify to the fundamental change he brought about in me and others in the group during the ten full days he worked as our trainer. So how does he do it? Well, I found his training style incredibly effective because he achieves that wonderful balance of being a guide, an expert and a helping hand when participants are on their various journeys of discovery and experimentation. He has a lovely, slightly impish sense of humour that is always gentle and which ensures that any group will bond quickly, and, importantly, that participants will take on board serious learning points effortlessly. Ralph's training had a powerful effect on me and I highly recommend his services to you." Terence Pritchard, Business Trainer and Consultant, UK and Germany

During the practitioner programme Ralph covered all the topics in great depth (both verbally and written) and provided live demonstrations of the patterns. He also allowed a good amount of time for open questions, discussion and practical sessions to aid our learning. Ralph's teaching style was excellent - relaxed, professional and lots of fun!
